

Vertebrate Paleontology Publications from the Carnegie Museum of Natural History: Memoirs and Annals, 120 papers in 8 volumes

numerous black-and-white photos, half-tone illustrations and line-drawings (some plates are double or triple page folding). Early dark green cloth, spine lettered in gilt, 1g 8vo and 1g 4to. The Memoirs of the Carnegie Museum are divided into four large bound volumes consisting of 31 monographs; they cover volumes 1-11 in the Memoirs series spanning 1901-1928. The Annals of the Carnegie Museum are divided into four smaller, but thick, bound volumes consisting of 89 papers; they cover volumes 1-21 in the Annals series spanning 1905-1932. These 120 contributions present detailed studies of dinosaurs, fossil birds, fossil reptiles, fossil fish and fossil mammals. The authors include: E. Douglas, C.R. Eastman, C.W. Gilmore, J.B. Hatcher, O.P. Hay, W.J. Holland, F.D. Loomis, O.A. Peterson, R.W. Shufeldt, G.G. Simpson, A. Wetmore and H.E. Wood among others. At the beginning of each volume is a typewritten table of contents. Each article is numbered in this table of contents; the numbers corresponded to printed tabs inserted on the page edges that provide easy access to each article. A valuable collection of vertebrate paleontology monographs and papers. There are no ownership marks.
